VOLUME XVII

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY JULY 8, 1914.

NUMBER 36

A Reminiscence of the War.

Below is a subjoined article which was sent from Harrodsburg, Ky., and published in the Courier-Journal either in 1869 or 1870. As the soldier referred to is a native of Columbia, Mr. Heck Burton, we reproduce it, and also a note from Mr. Burton:

Troy, S. C., July 1st, 1814.

Editor News:

Allow me to again thank you for your kindly reference to me in connection with the publication of Gen. Wat Hardin's letter to me in the News of last week. I appreciate not only your kindness, but Wat's good wishes and his invoking the benediction of God upon your humble correspondent. I am sending you the article in full to which you allude with reference to my war record. It was told about 1869 or 70. You can publish it if you think it worthy of publication. I copy it from my mother's scrap book which she gave me on August the 1st, 1888.

Respect,

George Heck Burton.

"A remarkable illustration of the influence wrought by music, was related by Gen. J. P. Nuckols, who in a conversation with your reporter told of an incident that happened on the bloody field of Shiloh. Gen. Nuckols was a gallant and distinguished officer in the Southern army, and now carries more lead in his his body as reminders of the bloody struggle than any other Confederate hero that we know of. Among the members of the Fourth Kentucky Infantry U. S. A., was one George Hector Burton, a tall, brawny, black-eyed, brave fellow, a Titan in strength, enthusiastic in his devotion to the South, and yet with all his reckless courage, he was joyous as a school boy and loved music and fun next to fighting. It was on the plains of Shiloh, the evening of the last day of the battle and the Kentucky brigade which had suffered fearfully, was covering the retreat of the Confederate army. Maj. Monroe had been killed, Capt. Monroe had been mortally wounded, Capt. John Adair had been badly shot, and the command of the regiment had fallen upon Gen. Nuckols, who was himself badly wounded, and faint from loss of blood. The regiment tired, worn out and fearfully depleted, retreating sullenly and slowly, as a wounded bear, not satisfied with his recent encounter, was halted to receive and repel a threatened charge of the enemy, and the men were lying listlessly on the ground. Suddenly a volley of shot and shell from a Yankee battery was poured into their midst, with the design of throwing the men into disorder preparatory to charging them with infantry. As the shells like angels of death spread their wings on the blast, Burton, who was standing up in front facing the enemy, was seen to fall, being wounded in the head by a splinter of an exploding missile. All hearts for the moment stood still, for the regiment saw him fall covered with blood, and with bated breath and blanched cheeks they witnessed him writhe and struggle in what they supposed was his death agony. On came the Federal infantry in uniform rank of unbroken blue, with glistening bayonets fixed in front. Suddenly Burton staggered to his feet, steadied himself, looked with dazed eyes and added sight at the approaching enemy and rousing himself with a dauntless and almost superhuman effort dashed the blood from his face, tossed his cap high in the air, seized his gun, and with a voice like a war trumpet broke out in the chorus of the Kentuckian's battle song, Hurrah! Hurrah! for the bonnie flag that bears asingle star." The men sprang into line as if on dress parade. The chorus rang along the line. The Yankees hesitated. Steady men, aim low, ready—aim—fire, roared out the command from Nuckols. The enemy halted, their lines were broken. Charge bayonets again, came quick and clear from the gallant Nuckols. The enemy's front no longer faced the boys in gray. This was the last charge made upon our army at Shiloh, says Gen. Nuckols, and it was repulsed by the song of Heck Burton. He modestly adds, Capt. Burton now lives in one of the Southern States. He is a lineal descendant of Simon, Kenton and was one of the bravest soldiers in the Southern Confederacy. Gen. Nuckols, as is well known, is now the very efficient Quarter-master General of Kentucky, and will doubtless be quite surprised to see this incident in print as he was totally unaware at the time he narrated it, that he was conversing with a scribbler."

Miss Zella Peiley, one of Columbia's popular and highly respected teachers, has been employed to teach in the Plevine Graded School the coming year, beginning in September.

Death of Mr. L. C. Hurt.

The people of Columbia were greatly surprised, last Wednesday morning, when a message came from Lebanon, stating that Claud Hurt had just died at the home of his brother, Mr. Edwin Hurt, in that city. His illness was not known to his Columbia friends, in fact, they did not know he was in Lebanon, he having lived in Louisville for the past four or five years.

The deceased was born and reared in Adair county and was a son of the late J. W. Hurt. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Hurt, one sister, who resides in the South, and three brothers, Jerome, Henry, and Edwin, survive him.

We learn from his brother, Edwin, who lives in Lebanon, that the deceased reached his home about one month ago. He was sick when he arrived and he gradually grew weaker until the end came, though at times he appeared to be better.

The body reached here last Thursday morning about 1 o'clock, stopping at the home of his mother, where many called to view the remains.

At three o'clock in the afternoon the casket was conveyed to the Christian Church where a funeral discourse was preached by Eld. Z. T. Williams, and at the conclusion of which, the remains were borne to the city cemetery and there laid to rest by the side of his father.

The deceased was in his thirty-ninth year. He had served this county as deputy sheriff, under his father, and at one time was a school teacher. His second wife died about eight months ago. There were no children. The News joins the people of Columbia in extending its profoundest sympathy to the mother, sister, brothers and other relatives.

Farm for Sale.

I now offer my farm of 285 acres for sale. About 200 acres in cultivation and grass, the remainder in timber. Residence of nine rooms, good barn and outbuildings, plenty of water, in one mile of Columbia, and as good land as found in this locality. No better community in the State, considering location from Columbia, churches and schools and the productive powers of the land, it is an ideal chance for a home. The farm is as well improved as any place in the county. It can be divided and made two splendid locations. Price in keeping with adjoining farms and is a safe investment as a farming proposition. You can't find another location its equal in this locality. Call on or write

C. S. Harris,
Columbia, Ky.

The regular monthly meeting of the auxiliary to the C. W. B. M. will be held in the Christian Church Friday evening July 10th, at 7:30. There will be an interesting program. Talks will be given by Misses Vic Hughes, Mary Lucy Lowe, and Leonora Lowe, reporting the thrill of the missionary spirit received from the great Student Volunteer Convention at Kansas City, also from the School of Methods in Lexington and from the Y. W. C. A. Convention in Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Cravens will introduce a number of our missionaries and the fields in which they work. We shall be glad to have all, who will, attend this meeting.

Mrs. T. Williams, Pres.,
Mrs. Silas Denny, Sec.

We mentioned two weeks ago that Joseph M. Edwards, a native of Adair county, was the treasurer of the State of Texas. Another Adair county man has also come to the front in that State—James Alexander Breeding, who has served two terms in the Legislature and has also been appointed special Judge of the District Courts.

Mr. J. J. Stokes has sold his interest in the Stokes Bros. farm at Horse Shoe Bottom to his brother, Mr. W. A. Stokes, and purchased W. A. and Al Stokes interest in their Roller Mill. The style of the firm hereafter will be J. J. Stokes & Sons.—Monticello Outlook.

Independence Day gave some people an opportunity to get out and take some fresh air. The banks of Columbia were closed during the day, the post office a large portion of the day, and the News office force went fishing and stitching.

A dwelling and five acres of ground the property of the late G. W. Flowers, located in the town of Gradyville, was sold by the Master Commissioner last Monday. It brought $520, Elbert Nell becoming the purchaser.

Yates & Dixon struck water, last Monday, on Gordon Montgomery's premises at a depth of 88 feet.

School Affairs.

The most serious proposition that ever confronted the school people and the school patrons of Adair county now looms up before us. With the unprecedented drouth of last year and the still more unprecedented drouth of this year, bringing distress to our doors, we must make a change in something like two-thirds of our public school text books. Twenty school book companies each have a slice of the pie in furnishing the books. The contracts with these companies have just been signed binding those companies to have the books on sale by the first of August. In the meantime the schools are beginning, with no contracts with merchants yet signed for selling the books of the new addition.

I wish to say to the people of Adair county, buy no books yet, and if some of your children have no books, let them wait till the new books are here before starting them to school. Any old books that are sound, not torn, can be exchanged for new books of the same grade at 50 per cent or half price of the new ones during this school year, but it can not be done during the four remaining years of this contract.

This law will be enforced; merchants who handle the new books will be bound in their contracts to do this, and a penalty for failure to do so is provided in the law.

Commission Expires, Feb. 19, 1915.

Died in Texas.

Mr. Hiram Murrell, seventy-eight years old, who was a native of Adair county, a son of Jesse Q. Murrell, who was a merchant in Columbia for many years, died near Fort Worth, Texas, the 26th of June. He leaves several sons and daughters, all living in Texas, save one son, who lives at Johnson City, Tenn. He leaves one brother, Luther Murrell, and five or six sisters, all living in and near Fort Worth. Mr. Murrell left Adair county soon after the close of the civil war.

The Kentucky Game and Fish Commission offers a reward of $25.00 for the conviction of any person of placing or caused to be placed in any of the public waters of the State dynamite or other explosives for the purpose of catching fish. Twenty-five dollars is also offered for arrest and conviction of any person who hunts without license.

Asa Coffey, who was wanted in Metcalfe county, for violating the local option laws, was captured recently in Monroe county and delivered to the authorities at Edmonton. It is also said that Coffey forfeited a bond of two hundred dollars, to appear before the Federal Court, Louisville.

Statements of the three State banks, doing business in Adair county are published in to-day's News. Our readers are asked to give them careful consideration.

Last week there were three good rains at Sparksville and several other points in Adair County, but up to last Thursday it had been about three weeks since any had fallen here.

Mrs. McFarland Dies.

Mrs. Jennie McFarland, who lived at Rowena, Russell county, mother of Messrs. W. T., John, and Solomon McFarland, died at her late home last Saturday night at 8 o'clock. The deceased was a highly respected lady and was seventy-eight years and twenty-eight days old when the end came. The funeral services were conducted Sunday by her pastor, Rev. Tarter, of the Methodist Church, the deceased having been a consistent member of that denomination for many years.

All her children attended the funeral, and a large circle of other relatives and friends.

This town is in sympathy with all the children, who have lost a good mother, who will be sadly missed.

Drouth Alarming.

The drouth in this county is becoming most serious. All crops are showing the effects of it. The gardens are drying up fast and there will be no vegetables unless the situation is relieved in a very short time by copious rains.

Drouths are becoming annual affairs, it seems, as within the past four years three of them have experienced drouths of disastrous effects. In 1911 there was virtually no rain between late May and August, while in 1913 there was practically no rain during August and September and many crops were ruined. This season the same conditions have prevailed, accompanied by terrific heat. The farmer's lot seems to be getting harder and harder each year.

For Sale.

An extra good Jersey milk cow. See E. L. Fesse at News office.

He Failed to Get the Goods.

John Rogers purchased about eleven dollars worth of goods from W. I. Ingram last Monday, and filled out and signed a check on Greensburg Deposit Bank for the amount. Rogers was not known in Columbia and Mr. Ingram told him that he would call the bank. While he was phoning, his customer left and has not been seen since. The check was a fraud.

Mr. Porter Barger, of Joppa, one of our best citizens, and a man, who, for many years, has found considerable pleasure in bees, has a colony that breaks the record for honey making, so far as we have heard. He stated to a News man, a few days ago, that he had taken over sixty pounds of honey from the stand in which they work, ten pounds of it being deposited on the outside of the stand. He also stated that this same hive did this two years ago and that they are now making comb and depositing honey on the outside as well as on the inside.

The brick work on the Lindsey-Wilson dormitory has now been in progress ten days and the work is moving along nicely. In a short time an additional force will be on the building. The management is going to make an effort to have the building completed by the middle of September. It will be a magnificent home for boys. Waterworks will be installed, and the fifty rooms will be comfortably furnished.

Some one supposed to have been a tramp, entered the home of Mr. T. E. Waggener last Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Waggener were not at home, and did not know that the building had been entered until meal time, when they missed edibles which had been placed on the table. In speaking of the affair, some little girls report that in passing the house they heard some one walking on the inside. Nothing of value was missed.

Mr. J. N. Coffey is thinking seriously of building a porch to his store house. He has figured that he can turn the two middle windows in the second story into doors, turn two rooms into offices, building a winding stairway to reach them. It would be an improvement, besides the rooms could be rented for five dollars each per month.

Jeffries Hardware Store and the First National Bank have erected a metal awning running the full length of the two buildings. It will prevent the hot rays from reaching their fronts, making the interior of the buildings much cooler. It will also furnish shade for those who have the time to sit under it.

Heracles Dunbar, of Russell county, delivered 175 sheep to Mr. L. W. Bennett, this place, last Friday. One hundred of the number were choice ewes.

Todd-Crenshaw.

Last Friday afternoon Miss Ida Todd and Mr. Clyde Crenshaw were married in Edmonton, Ky. The couple were accompanied on their matrimonial trip by Miss Verna Todd, sister of the bride, and Mr. Guy Neil. After the ceremony the wedding party went to Sulphur Well, returning to Columbia Sunday afternoon, stopping at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Georgia Crenshaw, where the newly wed will reside.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Todd, who live one and a half miles from Columbia, and is a very popular young lady.

The groom is well-known over the county, being a deputy sheriff at this time. He has many warm, personal friends, all of whom extend their best wishes to himself and his most excellent companion.

For Sale.

One male hog, about 20 months old, pure bred Poland China, and and a good one, 2 male pigs pure bred and 1 sow pig. All tip top in every particular, also three pure bred gilts due to farrow in August. If you want a Poland China this is your opportunity.

C. S. Harris.

Bells Have Arrived.

The three bells which are to be placed in the new Baptist church, reached Columbia last Wednesday. They are different sizes, the largest being about the same dimensions of the one on the court-house. All three will ring at the same time, each one having a different tone—the sound being very much like that made by chimes, and will be heard a long distance.

Mr. Robert Bault Dead.

Mr. Robert Bault, who lived in the neighborhood of Jerico church, died last Tuesday afternoon, a victim of a cancer. He was a farmer and a good citizen, but had not been able to do manual labor for some time. He was buried near his late home in the presence of many of his former neighbors and friends.

Special Notice.

All parties who are indebted to the late W. L. Walker, either by note or account, are requested to call at the store and make payment, as the outstanding business must be wound up.

Mrs. Tola Walker.

Rev. J. S. Chandler, pastor of the Methodist Church, preached a very pointed sermon last Sunday forenoon, his subject being "Union and Unity of the Churches." He took the position that an agreement could be reached on the essentials, but that religious bodies would never come together on the nonessentials. Such as the mode of baptism, church government, etc. He said there were divisions in the days of the Apostles and would be until the end of time.

The drouth still clings to this part of the State accompanied by the hottest weather ever felt in this section. Gardens and grass are almost a failure and corn is being seriously hurt. A few more days and a large part of the corn will be completely ruined. An unusually large crop of wheat will prove of great worth, but the seriousness of the drouth will be felt more keenly than any failure ever experienced in this part of the county.

Lives of poor men oft remind us that honest toil don't stand a chance, the more we work we leave behind us higher patches on our pants. On our pants once new and glossy now are patches of different hue; all because subscribers linger and wont pay up what is due. Then let all be up and doing; send in your mite be it e'er so small, or when cold winter strikes us we will have no pants at all.

Circuit court at Jamestown lasted the full two weeks. Lucian Meadows, who was charged with stealing money and other valuables from the residence of James Miller, who lives in Herrford Bottom, was given a trial and promptly acquitted.

Monday was county court, but a very small crowd was in town, and no extra amount of business was transacted. It will take a general rain to move the farming element. There has not even been dew in this county for three weeks.

An infant daughter, three months old, of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, Fairplay, died a few days ago.

Enjoyable Picnic.

At the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Russell, Miss Nettie Clark delightfully entertained quite a few of our young people Tuesday afternoon and evening in honor of her brother, Mr. Presley Clark, of Bowling Green. The lunch was spread in the yard and proved satisfactory to the most fastidious. Many games were played, and the evening ended with some of the most delightful music rendered in Columbia for many days. Thanks for same due Miss Mary Grissom, Kate Hogard and Mr. Clark.

Those attending, were: Mrs. Marvin Young, Misses Cora, Kate and Ida Hogard, Lillie Judd, Mary Grissom, Mae Stults, Jennie McFarland, Mary Lucy and Leonora Lowe and Moille Caldwell. Messrs. Alex. Chewing, Reed Shelton and Paul Chandler.

Coming to Columbia.

Dr. H. W. Depp, of Edmonton, will remove to Columbia and open a dental office in about six weeks. He is a graduate of the Louisville College of Dentistry, and has been a regular practitioner for ten years. He has done a great deal of work for patients who live in the Breeding section of Adair, and they speak in very complimentary terms of his skill. He has an electric engine which enables him to turn out work rapidly. The apartments he will occupy in Columbia will be announced later. He also uses oxide gas which renders an operation painless, the patient being conscious while the work is in progress.

For Sale.

One blue-flame perfection coal oil range in good condition, one new sewing machine, several dozen pint, quart, half-gallon Mason fruit jars, one set of four volumes of New Teachers and Pupils Encyclopedia and other books. All to go at a great reduction. If interested call at once at the old Beal homestead on 36-80.

Chesterfield Turner

On the Square.

Mr. J. B. Brown, sixty-eight years old, and Miss Susan Harvey, aged fifty-nine, drove to Columbia last Wednesday morning, secured licenses to marry, and while they were seated in their buggy, on the public square, Judge G. T. Herrford said the words that made them husband and wife.

Tax Notice.

Parties owing town taxes for the year 1914 are requested to settle at once. 6 per cent. penalty added Oct. 1st.

W. B. Patteson,
Collector.

The delay in starting the rock crusher was caused by time taken up in locating the engine. It is now at the proper place and the crusher will start this week. It is located near the mouth of Disappointment, on the farm of Mr. C. S. Harris. Everything indicates that it will be but a short time until we will have metal streets all over Columbia, and good roads leading out of town.

Mr. Mont Willis has just finished painting the iron bridge that spans Russell's creek at Wilson's old mill site. The lower bridge, known as the Harris bridge, is to be painted at once, and probably all the other county bridges. The one at Columbia is owned by the pike company and it is badly needing paint.

Miss Mary D. Patteson opened her parlors to the younger set last Thursday evening and they were there in large numbers. The hours were most delightfully spent, all regretting when the time for departure arrived. Refreshments were served.

Has any one seen a kid under eighteen smoking a cigarette in this town since the new law went into effect, June 15th? The boy who indulges in the use of coffin tacks in not long for this world.

Dr. Frank Cheek, of Danville, will preach at the Presbyterian church, this city, next Sunday forenoon and evening. Every body cordially invited.

The picnic at the Fair Grounds, on the Fourth, was not largely attended, but those who put in an appearance report a very enjoyable day.

L. W. Bennett received twelve hundred sheep here last Monday. He will ship them from Campbellsville to Louisville.

Mr. P. B. England, of Rocky Hill, is visiting in this, his old county and left a dollar with the news.

Ingratitude Flattery & Etc.

Every one who has had experience and is of sound mind and disposing memory, recalls some incident in life, where ingratitude, deception and etc., have played a prominent part and has formed a groove in which will flow forever a life of misfortune, sorrow, want and woe, generated by the falsity and fickleness of those who practice this heartless and growing evil and the individual who brings this misery and misfortune to his or her victim has, (I will assert without fear of contradiction,) committed an unpardonable sin. The desire to seem rather than to be is carried into every department of life and its effect is most commonly felt by some one worthy of the respect and admiration of any one. Some one who would have clinched the glided ladder of fame and in the evening of life had a peaceful, serene hour in which to die, a life of usefulness to God and to mankind, full of noble aims and thoughts but instead the frost of ingratitude nipped the bud and that life is completely a failure.

This great sin is being practiced by the older generation, as well as by the young, and any one regardless of sex or age who says I will and fails to make the attempt, has not only lost respect and admiration for themselves but the respect and admiration of all those around them. Every reader has conversed with those whose eloquence dazzled. Whose pretended earnestness created within you an enthusiasm equal to their own, yet behind all this, lurking in almost total disguise, a monster, which repelled the admiration their genius attracted. It is without question the greatest fault the present age possesses, and most generally practiced by the so called "courting class," of boys and girls who do not realize that life has a soul and sentiment and in deceiving each other obstruct the stream of life along whose current peace, happiness and contentment would have sailed supreme. If the present generation would turn a deaf ear to this class of people, and impress deeply upon the minds of the rising generation, the grandeur and beauty on the one side, the sham and foulness of the other, childhood, young man and womanhood days would be full of fond memories. We could hear the echo of pleasant voices whose living soul was the sunlight of our early existence. We could converse with them in dreamland, and be prepared to meet every one face to face on the final day when our records are read and judged. Young man, young woman, be true to every trust, be frank, sincere and honest with all mankind. Disdain and abhor all those who are influenced by public sentiment, unless that sentiment be to the interest and justice of humanity, and life will be real, and the grave will not be its goal.

Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because that your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengla, Plainfield, N. J., writes: "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by all dealers and Paul Drug Co. Ad

The Way We Live.

Did you know that the articles which go to make up your home represent almost every state in the union? They do. The average citizen imagines that he lives at home, but he does not. He gets up in the morning and puts on his socks made in New York, shoes in Boston and pants made in Ohio. He dips some water from a Missouri bucket with a Chicago dipper and puts it in an Indiana washpan and washes his face with a cake of St. Louis soap. He dries his face with a Rhode Island towel and roaches his hair with a Vermont comb. He takes Cuban coffee in an Indiana cup and saucer, sweetened it with New Orleans sugar and stirred with a New York spoon. His knife, fork and plate are made in the North, and his table cloth ditto. He eats a piece of Chicago ham fried in Kansas lard, sops his St. Louis biscuit, seasoned with Boston soda and Michigan salt, into Louisiana molasses. He wipes his mouth on a Vermont napkin and seats his family around a Michigan table in chairs from the same state. His meal was cooked on a St. Louis stove, with wood cut with a Pittsburg ax and hauled in an Indiana wagon. Then the citizen puts a Boston saddle on a Missouri mule and gets out his plow and works in the field encumbered, possibly, with a New Jersey mortgage. He returns at night and satisfies his appetite with another imported meal, fills his Indiana lamps with Pennsylvania oil and lights it with a New York match. He then fills his Missouri pipe with North Carolina tobacco and settles down in a Northern chair for a comfortable smoke. When bedtime comes he takes down the family Bible, which was printed in Massachusetts, reads a chapter composed in Jerusalem, then retires to bed, sleeps under imported covers and is kept awake two hours by the yowls of his cats, which are the only home product he has on his farm.

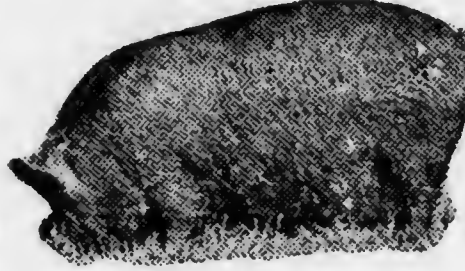

The Best Medicine in the World

"My little girl had dysentery very bad. I thought she would die. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured her, and I can truthfully say that I think it is the best medicine in the world," writes Mrs. William Orvis, Clare, Mich. For sale by all dealers and Paul Drug Co. Ad.

KEEPING SWINE
HEALTHY IN WINTER

If convenient have your feed and hog nest in a small wood lot or blue grass pasture. Never ring hogs, but let them root to their hearts' desire, writes F. L. Rodehaven of Ohio in the National Stockman. Never put more than thirty-five or forty together, and construct a good board pen about 8 by 16 feet for sleeping quarters. Place the sleeping quarters on a raised piece of ground as far away from the feeding place as convenient. Board the pen up tight, but leave an air space at each end and a 2 by 2 foot entrance. Have a wide board hinged to one side to make it convenient to clean out. If you have it on a dry spot do not floor it, but let them sleep on the ground. Bed them once a week with the refuse and left over cornstalks from the stable or feed lot.

By having the sleeping quarters and feeding place separated, the hogs will get the needed exercise in cold weather in going to their feed when they are disinclined to stir about. When the weather is not too cold they will forage for roots and nuts, and not being ringed are able to secure considerable food by rooting. About every four or five weeks, when the weather is warm,

The Berkshire breed of hogs have remarkable vitality and strong digestive organs, enabling them to assimilate less food into the greater gain of flesh which is of the highest quality. They can be fattened at any age. They are prolific, careful mothers and good milkers. No breed excels them for grazing. Experiments show they will produce 600 pounds of meat from each acre of clover consumed and double that amount when fed one pound of corn daily for every hundred pounds of live weight. When in pasture they should have shade and plenty of pure water. The sow shown is a fine type of the Berkshire.

get them up and spray them with a good dip heated to a rather warm temperature. Never give them too much bedding, and when the nest gets a little dusty give it a good spraying too.

Be sure there is plenty of good running water or a self feeding tank for them to drink at. Keep slack coal and salt and wood ashes by them all the time. Feed a mixture of middlings, bran and a little tankage or oilmeal and use some feeding molasses. Make this mixture into a thin slop by putting it in the troughs and pouring the water on it. Let the hogs do the mixing themselves, which they will do to the complete satisfaction of all concerned.

SCAB ON CATTLE.

Simple Remedy For This Common Pest of the Farm Stable.

"Barnyard Itch" is a white scab / growth around the eyes and in blotches on the neck and sometimes further back on the body. It is a parasite and will spread from one animal to another and will live for years in a barn that has been infected by cattle that have it. It is transmissible to people handling cattle so affected if they should happen to rub the affected spots with bare wrist or hand, as one is apt to do in tying or stanchioning. On the human it comes as hundreds of small festers, which scab over and keep spreading and are very painful.

After trying everything I could think of, even the best carbolic acid, brushed on with a feather, and only aggravating the sore, in my desperation one day I mixed some hog's lard and sulphur together, rubbed it on freely, and the sores disappeared like magic, says C. W. Cobb in the National Stockman. I used it on cattle with like results. I cured the stanchions with the mixture and have never had a case of it since. I have told others of it, and they have used it and killed the scab on their cattle. The remedy is so simple and easily made that a child can make and use it. Just mix hog's lard full of sulphur and rub it in thoroughly.

Danger in Feeding Salt.

There is considerable danger in feeding salt to ewes just before lambing time. Many cases have been known where abortion has been traced directly to the use of salt during this period. Sheep must have salt and plenty of it, but this is one time during the life cycle when it should be withheld. Not only have bad results been noticed from the feeding of salt, but when sheep have been fed a liberal supply of beets or turnips abortion has been more prevalent than otherwise. This is attributed to the fact that there is more salt in these feeds than in others.

Wheat as a Cattle Feed.

In finishing cattle for market considerable grain is required. Steers cannot consume enough of the ordinary roughage to lay on much fat. While corn is generally considered almost indispensable in finishing stock for market, wheat can be used very satisfactorily as a substitute. Owing to the fact that the grains of wheat are small and hard it is necessary to grind it in order to secure the best results.

Give the Cows a Good Home.

A good dairy barn, warm, well lighted and well ventilated and convenient in its arrangement, means that the cows will do their best, because they are warm and comfortable; they will keep healthier because of light and ventilation; they will drop stronger and better calves; It means a much easier proposition to secure good help. It means less time consumed in doing chores. It means a better product in the way of milk and cream, and consequently an opportunity for a better market, and last, it means a big element in the personal pride that you take in your business, and that in particular goes a long way toward spelling success.

Save Seed for Squirrels.

An interested reader informs us that the squirrels are very fond of the squash and pumpkin seed which the farmer and housewife consign to the garbage pail. So do not throw them away, but save them, and when you are out walking in the woods, throw them under the trees and the squirrels will take care of them. The advocates of woman suffrage have won an important victory in the decision of the Illinois supreme court that the woman suffrage act of that state is constitutional. True the decision was by a majority vote and along party lines, but all the same it clears the atmosphere in Illinois and is generally welcomed as the natural settlement of a question which has agitated political life in that state for many years. The decision is bound to have considerable influence on the movement in other states, and also in other countries, because Illinois is the most populous state in the Union to give the ballot to women. To be sure the constitution will have to be amended in order to confer full suffrage on women but that in time will be certain to come.

Mildred loved Edgar Cornet and, even if she had not, would rather have married an ogre than Wingate. The problem was how to force him to release her, which was the only way by which she could inherit her property. She treated him scornfully, but did not secure any response. Wingate bore it without retort. By the terms of the will if Mildred did not marry him within two years he was to hold the property in trust so long as he lived, to have the income for himself.

One day Mildred disappeared. When Wingate learned of this move he was disquieted. He feared some game, but could think of no way by which she could secure her fortune. What he most desired was that she would withhold her consent to marry him till the two years' grace had elapsed, after which he would enjoy the income of the property and manage the business so long as he lived. The will read "In case the said Samuel Wingate shall refuse to marry my daughter Mildred Winterfield, at any time within the said two years," etc. Wingate read this over and considered the matter safe. The will did not say how he was to refuse, but this made no difference. He would not refuse in any form.

Wingate had no desire to marry Mildred Winterfield. Indeed, he had nothing to gain by a marriage with her, for in that case she would inherit the property and might make it unpleasant for him. He had seen her only once, when she was about fifteen years old, an awkward girl, who was changing to womanhood. At the time of her father's death she was a fine looking woman, with golden hair, fair complexion and dark brown eyes.

One day a young woman called at Wingate's office and applied for a position as typewriter and stenographer. There were no vacancies, and she was refused. A few days later Wingate received a note signed Elizabeth Darrow, asking him if he would favor her with a call since she had something to tell him to his advantage. This request, taken with certain glances Miss Darrow had given him, made him suspicious that she had designs upon him. Then suddenly he was struck with an idea.

"I do believe," he said to himself, "that she is a decoy of Mildred Winterfield and her lover. The object is to get me in a position where it can be proved that I have made love to this woman and asked her to marry me. That would not be refusing to marry Mildred, but they doubtless have hit upon a plan to twist evidence so as to make it appear that I, making love to their decoy I have refused to marry Mildred. There are plenty of lawyers smart enough to do that. All I have to say is if they catch me napping they must get up early in the morning."

After considerable deliberation he determined not to let it appear that he suspected their game till he had elicited more of it from the decoy. He made no reply to Miss Darrow's communication, confident that he would hear from her again. He did hear by note, in which references were made to love passages between them which had never occurred. This confirmed Wingate's suspicions. But he did not know what action to take, or, rather, he decided that he had better take no action at all.

In time another letter came from Miss Darrow, hinting at proceedings for breach of promise. Wingate congratulated himself on his foresight in laying down the scheme in advance. A trumped up case of breach of promise to Miss Darrow was to be turned into a refusal to marry Miss Winterfield. It did not appear to Wingate that he should pay any attention to these notes. By doing so he might get caught in the trap being laid for him. All he did was to give orders that if "the Darrow woman" came to see him she was to be told that she could not see him. Notwithstanding this order one day he looked up from his desk and saw his unwelcome visitor standing near him.

"I have called," she said, "to ask if you intend to do me justice."
"I don't know you, madam."
"You do know that you have asked me to be your wife."
"I have not."

BRIEF SILAGE FACTS.

Silage fed stock require one-third less grain than cattle fed dry fodder and produce beef more economically.

Few facts in agriculture have been more clearly and conclusively established than that the silo is a necessity to the stock farmer.

Combining the cost of growing the corn crop and the cost of silaging and adding 50 cents per ton for depreciation, the cost of producing silage amounts to $2.25 per ton.

Silage, whether it be corn, kafir or cane, has a palatability and a succulence which other feeds do not possess and which are absolutely essential in making up a suitable ration for the milking cow.

The cow will not tire of silage as she will of other feeds. The cow will eat silage the year around if she has opportunity.

HORSE CAST IN STALL.

Method of Procedure When This Common Accident Occurs.

A "cast" horse is one that gets down in the stall and is unable to rise. This is a common and often fatal accident that might in many instances be prevented, says Dr. A. S. Alexander in the Rural New Yorker.

When a horse is found cast in his stall do not become "rattled," as often occurs. Many a horse has been shot as paralyzed that would get up in time if sensibly treated. Remember that when a horse has been cast for a long time the hind leg on the under side tends to become numb or cramped from lack of circulation of blood. In this condition it is useless to the horse. Pull the horse out of the stall, if that is found possible. Never try to make him get up when it is seen that he is cast. He has tried his best to rise and failed. If he cannot be pulled into the runway at the rear of the stall pull down the partition against which he is cast, then roll the horse over and examine the legs that he has been lying upon. One of them may be broken. That often is found to be the case and usual.

The only practical way we have to improve live stock is by the use of good pure bred sires. It should need no argument to convince any man that as long as scrub sires are used by farmers the quality of the live stock on farms will improve slowly if at all. The undesirable male animal must not be allowed to perpetuate his bad qualities. There is no need that he should, and it is only because farmers do not fully realize the truth of their own assertion that we need better live stock that they tolerate these scrubs in the land. The pure bred Percheron stallion shown is the kind that produces topnotch draft horses.

ly necessitates the destruction of the animal. If the legs are found intact proceed to move them thoroughly and massage the muscles to stimulate normal circulation of blood. A stimulating liniment rubbed upon the muscles will aid in this. Induce the circulation after the extremities have become warm and sensitive encourage the horse to rise. If he cannot do so have several men assist him. If necessary, hoisting by means of a folded canvas sheet or even a wide plank passed under his belly.

Before shooting a cast horse that is unable to rise, although his leg is not broken, have the veterinarian use the catheter to draw off the urine. Azoturia often is brought on by the struggles of a cast horse that has been standing idle in the stable. The urine in such a case will be found dark red brown in color or like strong coffee. The disease may prove curable by the intelligent treatment of a qualified veterinarian.

Money in Swine.

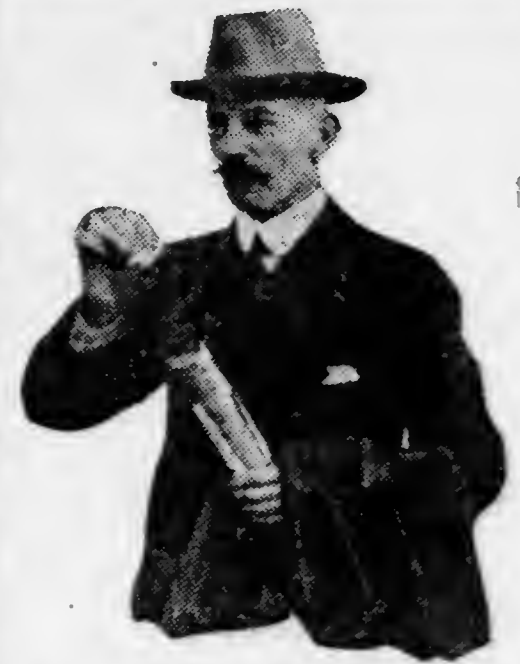

Swine raising is one way to utilize the surplus grain and the waste acres as pasture. Swine consume an enormous amount of food, but they make rapid gain, usually mature quickly as compared to other animals and are among that class of animals that reproduce the species rapidly. Money invested in swine should bring dividends sooner, as a rule, than when invested in cattle or sheep. Every farm should have enough swine to supply the manager's family with pork and bacon. Farm and Ranch.

Pure Breds Pay.

A litter of eight good pigs from a pure bred boar mated with a choice sow will require less feed and when grown will produce fifty pounds of meat per pig more than scrubby ones thus making 400 pounds of additional meat without additional expense.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Nicholson Is Designer of the Shamrock IV.

Great interest has been aroused by the statement that the Shamrock IV., the new challenger for the America's cup, will have a centerboard. The use of this distinctly American contrivance will indicate that the yacht will have a hull of light draft.

C. E. Nicholson, the well known English yachting expert, is the designer of the Shamrock IV.

As to Rough Hockey. The players on our American hockey teams may get a little too frisky at times, but we should be thankful that they are not as bloodthirsty as our friends across the border.

A man was nearly killed in a game at Montreal recently, moving a local newspaper to publish across two columns in large type the following warning.

"The almost fatal accident to La-londe again emphasizes the dangers of hockey and the necessity on the part of the team managers to keep down the temper of the men.

"It would be a great pity if any of our rinks should be shut up through popular clamor as a result of what the law must call at least sporting manslaughter.

"Hockey officials and hockey rules, no matter how strict either of these are, cannot prevent rough play.

"It is all in the hands of the team managers.

"Let them use the power they possess over the players under their control wisely and well lest the public be compelled to look to the criminal columns of the newspapers, where corners' courts and prison cells are featured for the latest hockey news instead of on the sporting page."

"Will Be Game's Best Year."

Comble Mack, manager of the world's champion Athletics, does not agree with Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who recently in a Chicago interview said the year 1914 would be most disastrous for baseball. On the other hand, the master mind of the game in a forecast said it would be baseball's best season. Manager Mack said:

"I'm not predicting any pennants at this time, but I feel confident that the Athletics will be able to hold their own in 1914. We must have our strongest team, for the other clubs, especially those that finished in the second division, will be greatly strengthened. I look for a much harder race than last year, because all of the clubs will be more evenly balanced. The fans will see better baseball this year, which I have every reason to believe will be the game's most successful in every way."

N. A. A. O. Meeting.

The annual meeting of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen will be held at the New York Athletic club on March 21. At this session the date and place for the 1914 national regatta will be arranged. According to an official of the national body, Philadelphia will probably get the big event, although several western cities are after it.

Philadelphia has not had the event for several years, and since the Quakers' course on the Schuylkill is one of the best in the country the chances are the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen will vote favorably for Philadelphia. Baltimore and Detroit also are after the date.

Harry Lewis Quits Ring.

Harry Besterman, better known to ring followers as Harry Lewis, who is slowly improving at his home from the injuries he received last October, when he was knocked out in the fifth round of a bout with Joe Borrell, an Indianapolis middleweight, declared he will never again don a glove. He says that an injury he sustained in an automobile accident in London a few years ago, is the real cause of his condition.

The former fighter made his reputation in the lightweight class and was at one time the sensation of Paris.

Pirate Holdouts.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have two holdouts on their hands. Claude Hendrick, the pitcher, says he will not play with the Pirates unless he is given an increase in salary. He demands $7,500 and says that if Dreyfuss refuses to give it to him he will jump to the Federals. Max Carey is holding the Pirates up for a $6,500 salary. President Dreyfuss refuses to discuss the question, but it is thought that he will make some sort of compromise.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR JUDGE OF COURT OF APPEALS.

We are authorized to announce ROLLIN HURT a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals, in the Third district, subject to the action of the Democratic voters, expressed at the August primary.

It will only be twenty-three days from the date of this paper until the Democratic primary election. The News again urges the friends of Hon. Rollin Hurt to become active and do every thing in their power to bring out a full vote. It will not do for his supporters to conclude that he will be nominated and that their votes will not be necessary in the primary. It will be just as important to vote for him in the primary as it would be in the general election, therefore, let every Democrat who is supporting Mr. Hurt be at the polls on the first Saturday in August. Adair and all the adjacent counties should give him the largest majorities ever received by a candidate for the high office of Judge of the Court of Appeals.

"What's Doing Among Politicians," written by a writer on the Louisville Times and published in said paper, is getting to be a little too rotten. If he would not give the names of parties from whom he says his statements are gathered, he might fool some people. In the language of Neighbor Hatcher, his writings are calculated to fool the chestnut knockers, but when people who wear store clothes and eat cooked food read after him, the saying of the woodchuck is very applicable. His statements concerning the Senatorial race are about as amusing as they are untruthful.

Hon. J. F. Holtzclaw, of Garrard county, Progressive candidate for Congress in the Eighth district, addressed an audience at the court house, last Monday afternoon. It is our information that Mr. Holtzclaw stands high as a citizen in his home county, and that the Progressives of Adair were well pleased with his effort here.

The Mexican situation is brightening as the days come and go. Huerta, the dictator, quits the Presidency of the country, and seeks safety across the waters, while Pedro Lascurain, a member of the Maderly Cabinet, will take the reins of government for the time being. Under present movements it seems certain that the Coranza and Villa forces will accept, and the war will be over.

Tell your neighbor to be at the polls the first Saturday in August and vote for Hon. Rollin Hurt for Judge of the Court of Appeals. In this race his name comes first on the ballot.

Keep Mr. Hurt's candidacy before you. Talk it in the home in the stores, the workshops and on the farm. Let every friend become enthused and work diligently to bring out a full vote.

Looks Hopeful.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 2.—Communication between the two warring factions in Mexico, which, it is hoped, eventually will lead to conferences for the establishment of peace, was begun to-day when the delegation representing Gen. Huerta formally addressed to the three South American mediators a note to be transmitted to the Constitutional representatives in Washington. In this the Huerta delegates express their willingness to discuss measures of peace with the Constitutionalists and bring to an end the civil strife which has been devastating their country for the last year.

The Huerta delegation wrote in response to a note from the mediators, delivered to them as well as the American delegation, suspending the sessions of mediation because the international side of the controversy had been adjusted and calling attention to the correspondence with Gen. Carranza in which he asked for more time to consult his subordinates about a peace conference. The Huerta delegates replied in two separate communications, one setting forth their own approval and gratification at the amicable settlement of the international conflict, and the other, intended for transmission to the Constitutionalists, explaining in effect their readiness to begin informal conferences for the selection of a provisional president and the solution of kindred problems of an internal character.

Last Saturday, June 27, was the 43rd. anniversary of Mr. Josh Montgomery. He was very much surprised when his friends began to arrive with well-filled baskets. His wife and daughter also had been making preparation to surprise him. The secret was well guarded, Mr. Montgomery being kept in complete ignorance until the guests began to arrive. It was a day pleasantly spent by all present.

From Missouri.

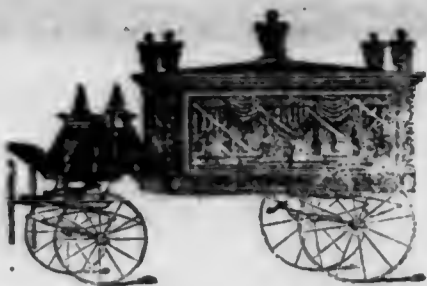

Carrollton, June, 27th, 1914. Editor News:

If you will allow me space in your paper, I will give you some of the latest from the old state of Missouri. We are having dry hot weather. Haven't had but two rains since the 4th of May. Had them the 11th and 12th of June. They were just what we would call good showers, so you see we are getting tolerably dry. Wheat is all in the shock. Some real good and some no good. The oats are short. The hay crop is very light. The chinch bugs damaged the wheat crop considerably. Now it is all harvested they have gone to the cornfields, and are doing very great damage.

Some men think they will lose their entire crop. Corn is looking fine, where the bugs have not molested. I for one, am not going to let those scamps destroy mine. I am going to try every way I can think of and if I can't do any better I will send to Melvin White for his six shooter and see what effect it will have on them. Melvin and I are good friends. He came to see me a few days before he left Missouri. I was real glad to see him. He and I were boys together. I met with his brother Bram a short time ago. Bram and I use to belong to the string town ball team, also George Frankum and Garnett Morris, both now living in Missouri. I have not met with my friend Luther Wilmore but one time since I arrived here. I have met Ed and Frank Conover once and my friend Henry Bottom. I often see Mrs. Collins and family. They are getting along nicely. Dallas Morrison is at work in Carrollton. I understand that my old friend Albert Johnson has been having more bad luck. Another "gal." Well Albert I wish I had more girls. Boys get drunk and girls don't, so you are lucky after all. Say don't you people back there let Rollin Hurt get licked. If you do, I don't know as I ever will come back to Kentucky any more. Rollin, I can't help you any, but I wish you good luck. Wishing you all the very best of luck. I will ring off. Respectfully,

J. T. Taylor.

The Scrap Book

Spoiled the Water.

The late Dr. Melkie of Clieff Hydro is the hero of many stories, none better known than that of his desire to induce his guests to adopt his own "temperance" principles. He became aware of the practice indulged in by some patrons of the Hydro of concealing certain cordials in their bedrooms and of ordering shoving water at bedtime whereby to enjoy furtive jorums of toddy.

"SOAP WON'T HURT IT."

Meeting a servant in a corridor one night, who was staggering under a heavy tray of hot water jugs, Dr. Melkie asked her where she was going with these things. She replied that she was taking shaving water to the gentlemen. "Come here," said the doctor, leading the way to a bathroom. The maid followed in fear and trembling. The doctor pulled out a pen-knife and, taking a bunk of soap, cut it into small pieces, which he dropped into the jugs, with the caustic remark: "Soap won't hurt it. It's shaving water, you know." The curses that ensued in several bedrooms are unknown but it is assured that, if known, they would be unprintable.—Toronto Globe

From the day
And a brazen wrong to crumble

Lo, the right's about to conquer!

Enter smiling at the door.

Many others, great and small.

For their prey.

His Queer Request.

Cyril Maude tells the following story about his old friend, W. S. Penley: Penley was stopping at a country house in Brittany, France, and the morning after his arrival, finding no looking glass in his room, rang the bell. "Apportez moi un cheval," he said to the maid who answered it. The maid grinned and then, choking with laughter, ran down to her master. "Monsieur," she cried, "your friend who arrived last night is mad. He has nothing on but his dressing gown, and he asked me to bring him a horse!" The host ran up and asked Penley what on earth he wanted a "cheval" for. "Well," was Penley's reply, "we talk of a cheval glass at home, don't we? I thought 'cheval' was the French word for mirror."

THE MAID GRINNED.

She Could Lecture Them.

Mr. Frederick Townsend Martin in his book, "Things I Remember," tells a story of a titled lady well known in English society, with very decided and outspoken opinions on certain subjects.

One day she was out at lunch and the conversation turned on the pleasures of life. Every one present gave his or her idea of what constituted enjoyment, and, at last, Lady Henry remarked in her impressive manner, "For myself, I like dinners better than anything else."

"Dinners?" exclaimed her host in a tone of great surprise. "My dear Lady Henry, surely you are not a gourmet?"

"Oh, no," drawled her ladyship: "I like dinners because I know I am certain to have a man on either side of me who can't get away."

A Fair Warning.

"Many a man goes to war without the slightest conception of what it really is," said a veteran of General Robert E. Lee's army. "In 1864 I had command of a detail made up of a dozen or two recruits that had just come up from the gulf states. The first night we were near the enemy I managed to find a deserted cabin and, after placing my picket out in front, we flung ourselves down to sleep. In the middle of the night I changed the picket, selecting for duty a young fellow who had exhibited the most intense longing to exterminate the entire northern army."

"About dawn I was awakened by the well known 'Ping, ping' of bullets against the logs of the cabin and the expostulating voice of my picket. Going to the door, I saw that a small scouting party of federal soldiers had discovered signs of Confederates in the cabin and were trying to drive us out by firing from the opposite hill. I turned to my picket and gave a gasp of astonishment. The young man stood in the midst of the clearing while the bullets whistled around him. There was no sign of fear about him, but he was tremendously excited. He had dropped his musket and was waving his arms, trying to attract the attention of the enemy, and shouting at the top of his voice in tones of remonstrance:

"Sn-a-y, you fellows over yonder! Don't you all be a-shootin' in here! That's folks in here!"—New York Post

What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of his crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of his trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of Mrs. M. S. Adams, Auburn, Ky., and Mrs. L. M. Boyce, Tip Top, Ky., the only laxative given is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative, and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women, and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging
Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave
Up in Despair. Husband
Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Luke Mc'Luke Says.

It is funny how we can always tell when other people are making mistakes, and yet have a tough time getting along ourselves.

You may have noticed that the lad who hasn't money to pay you the $5.00 he borrowed always has enough coin to take a vacation.

One reason why a fat woman wants to be an angel is because she could wear something loose all the time and still look stylish.

None of us say what we think. But all of us think a lot that we can't say.

The man who said that distance lends enchantment to the view probably meant that the father away some people are the better we like them.

The lad with the "ungovernable temper" always manages to govern it when he bumps into a bigger man than himself.

A man has to wear his same shape all week. But a woman can always change some of the outlines.

Most men will cheerfully make an affidavit to a thing that they wouldn't bet a dime on.

Talking about shopworn goods did you ever get a good look at a girl who has been engaged three or four times?

And half the trouble in the world is due to the fact that people never think seriously about marriage until after they are hitched.

What has become of the old fashioned man who bragged that he voted the straight ticket from hell to breakfast?

They can bunk you with the statement that you are made one when you get married. But the grocery proves that you are two.

The world isn't growing so much better. There were a whole lot of lynchings in the past six months, and not one of the victims was a book agent or an insurance solicitor.

No Gladys. A well groomed woman is not always a dame who has been married six or seven times.

This suffrage business is getting to be the limit. A California woman has been arrested for beating her husband.

When the widow puts "Gone to His Reward" on her late husband's tombstone, she is merely standing pat and giving you two guesses.

When a girl marries and starts raising a family she begins to realize what a patient woman her mother was.

A woman couldn't tell you who is leading the National League, but let ten other women pass her on the street and she can tell you what each of them had on.

Wide-Tired Farm Wagon.

One neighborhood in Illinois has done some excellent educational "missionary" work on the subject of wide-tired farm wagons.

Many of the farmers of this neighborhood came to realize the value of wide tires as an aid to keeping the roads smooth and passable as their value when it was necessary to use wagons in the fields. At a large meeting of farmers of the neighborhood a resolution was passed urging every farmer to use wide tires for his heavy hauling. Of course there was opposition. A few "mossbacks" swore they would not do it, and they didn't—at first. But the majority went ahead and equipped their wagons with 3 or 4 inch tire. The good results were so patent that the kickers were convinced and gradually equipped their wagons with wide tires. The result is that in that neighborhood they gather and haul their crops from the field more economically and quickly and a big improvement is noticed in the smoothness and up-keep of the road.—F. H. Journal.

The Low Tariff.

The "calamity howlers," or the "high kickers" against a low tariff have not only received "black eyes" recently, but have had their entire physiognomy smashed out of resemblance by the operations of the low tariff. The failure of the potato crop last year on account of the drouth created an alarming shortage of potatoes in this country, and it was thought that prices would soar skyward and the potato consumer would be without the tubers, but the low tariff prevented any great scarcity and held down high prices. Several millions of bushels of potatoes were imported this spring under the low tariff and made good the shortage in a measure and reduced prices to the average of ordinary spring prices.

The protectionist also maintained during the last Presidential election that a low tariff would reduce the price of wool and drive the wool growers out of business. The fact is the low tariff has had the opposite effect. The prices of wool are higher than in previous years under the high tariff and besides the prices bid fair to be still higher. The protectionist are invited to "smoke the above facts in their pipes," and the farmers are also invited to observe the good effects of a low tariff and the fallacy of a high tariff.—Elizabethtown Mirror.

One of the prettiest styles among the new neckwear is the medici collar with a fichu.

One of the new coats has no opening, but slips over the head like a peasant's blouse.

SORTING OUT JOB SEEKERS.

Senate Works Suggest Federal Commission to Do the Work.

Washington.—Federal appointments were the subject of a speech in the senate by Senator Works of California on his bill to provide for a commission appointed by the president to receive and pass upon all applications and recommendations for appointment to federal offices. The measure would forbid members of congress to recommend applicants or aid in obtaining positions.

Senator Works explained that his bill was intended to relieve the president and members of congress from the burden of recommending and appointing thousands of officers throughout the country, to bring about the appointment of more competent men and women and to relieve the public service from the "odious of the present pernicious system of patronage."

In 1910, the senator said, the government employees, exclusive of those under civil service and the army and navy, numbered 148,714, of whom 20,839 are appointed by the president. These appointments, he said, had steadily risen since, the number of postmasters to be appointed by the president having been increased by 453.

President Wilson, he said, had felt the necessity of some such help as this bill would afford but his effort to transfer the making of appointments to his heads of departments had proved a failure.

FAMOUS CRUISER IS AGAIN IN SERVICE

The Brooklyn, Schley's Flagship, Is Remodeled.

Philadelphia.—The old armored cruiser Brooklyn, flagship of Rear Admiral Schley at the battle of Santiago, went into commission at the Philadelphia navy yard after an idleness of more than ten years.

She has undergone a number of important changes and has been completely remodeled. The Scotch boilers have been replaced with the water tube type, her engines have been overhauled and all guns remounted on modern electrically controlled carriages.

Much of the woodwork has been replaced by fireproof material and new ammunition hoists installed. The lower military mast has been retained. The Brooklyn, when fully commissioned will carry a crew of 550 officers and men, but for the present only a skeleton crew will man her.

About ninety officers and men were aboard when the cruiser was placed in commission in the "ordinary" or second reserve.

She has been assigned to the Atlantic reserve fleet, but later will be sent to China to relieve the Saratoga.

FREAK POSSUM TO WILSON.

Texasan Send President White Animal With Pink Eyes.

Washington.—An albino possum white with pink eyes, was received by President Wilson, the gift being tendered by Scudder Wilson and Kennard Marshall of Rockdale, Tex.

"There hasn't no such animal," declared a Virginia Democrat, who happened to be in the executive offices when the possum arrived by express, but although he was not from Missouri he was shown.

President Wilson is rather partial to "possum an' taters," but was disinclined to take any chances on the Texas albino, so he had the little animal sent to the national zoo.

Several southern admirers of the president have contributed numerous possums to the White House commissary department and the animal server reached the zoo.

Wolf Trap Catches Owl.

Kansas City.—A trap set for a sheep killing wolf near Hottel, Mo., captured the biggest hoot owl in captivity. The trap was set by J. W. Olson, who used a rabbit as bait. The bird was not at all ferocious, as the hunter found him asleep in the trap.

Jamestown.

The June term of the Russell circuit court closed on Tuesday night of the third week of the session. Little civil business was tried except the case of Ferguson, et al, vs. Ralph and Nan. Bell, which, however, occupied four days, and resulted in a verdict of $662 for plaintiffs. Most of the time was devoted to the criminal docket. The case of the Commonwealth vs. Silas Sullivan, charged with stealing public records, occupied three days, and was one of the hardest-fought legal battles in the history of this county. The jury failed to agree, the vote being 10 for acquittal and 2 for conviction and the case was continued to the next term of this court. The Commonwealth was represented by A. A. Huddleston, R. E. Lloyd, J. N. Meadows, and J. H. Jone, and the defendant by Lilburn Phelps and Judge W. R. Cress, of Monticello.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Wesley Eads, charged with rape, occupied two days, and resulted in a conviction for carnally knowing a female under 16 years of age. The penalty is indeterminate, being from 10 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Lucian Meadows, charged with grand larceny, occupied one day, resulted in a verdict of not guilty, the jury being out only ten minutes.

Tuesday night, June the 30th, Miss Cora Wolford, daughter of the late Dr. W. D. Wolford, died at her home, near Jamestown, after an illness of several months. She was afflicted with dropsy, and had not been able to lie in bed for over two weeks. On the same night about two o'clock in the morning, Mrs. Lettie Garner, who was known to nearly everyone in the county, and a highly respected old lady, died at her home two or three miles below Jamestown.

School opened Monday, the 6th, with John Story as principal and his brother, Jeff Story, as assistant.

Luther and Silas Kean left our midst last week for Louisville, where it was reported that they joined the army. However, a later report is to the effect that Silas had a change of heart and is on his way back. This was cheering news, because "Hickory" is a congenial fellow, and besides he was the only catcher we had.

Jake Campbell's many friends in Jamestown will regret to learn that he will leave Sunday for Fort Terry, N. Y., where he will rejoin his company in the Coast Artillery Corps. Jake has been a soldier boy for twelve years. The boys will be sorry to see him leave. Good luck to you, Jake!

It is not often that Jim Meadows has a party, but when he does it is a foregone conclusion that it will make up for lost time. Wednesday night was one of these occasions, and the large crowd that attended voted it as the most enjoyable time of their lives. The party was held in honor of Jake Campbell, who left Sunday for New York.

Last Saturday, a week ago, the Sewellton base ball team journeyed to Jamestown for the purpose of settling the dispute as to which had the best team.

Judging from the results Sewellton had an unbeatable argument in the hope of the large end of a score of 26 to 25. Every body got at least one whack at the ball. If the writer had had a Burroughs adding machine with him he might have computed the number of errors that were made during the game, but failing, he will modestly place it at a million. However, the game was closely fought and no fault can be found with anyone except our boys for losing. Batteries for Jamestown, Kean, c., Dunbar, c., Harris, p., Stephenson, p., Dunbar, p., Wesley, p. Sewellton's battery consisted of Chester Carnes, c., and some little red-headed fellow whose name I do not recall. The boys made enough runs off him to win a whole world's series, but the trouble was that Sewellton made the same number, with one left over.

At the June examination there were 20 applicants with grades as follows: First, Miss Fay Williams, Walter Bowlin, Richard Whittle, Lula Gossen, B. H. Kimble, J. O. Grider, Lee A. Chumbley, B. H. Roy, E. E. Dunbar, J. L. Story, Ovel Withers, G. E. Stearns and Capitola Webb. Second, Alice Story, Minnie Wheat, Jeff Story, John Ballou and Eva Conner. Failures, 2.

The Sunday School at Moore's school-house is progressing nicely with Mr. Pet Vaughan, Superintendent.

At the term of the Russell circuit court, the grand jury returned 109 true bills as follows: Breach of the peace 41, selling liquor unlawfully 19, weapons 7, trespass 6, reckless weapons 4, furnishing liquor to minor 4, petit larceny 4, gaming 3, adultery 3, nuisance 3, malicious shooting 3, forgery 3, disturbing worship 2, assault and battery 2, detaining a woman 1, voluntary manslaughter 1, cutting timber on the lands of another 1, selling a pistol to a minor 1.

The following are marriage licenses issued from the County Court Clerk's office during the month of June: Joe F. Dyke to Lula M. Blankenship, Edward Wilson to Bessie J. Perkins, Jno. H. Ford to Arrena Lawson.

JAMESTOWN No 2.

Died; near Jamestown, on the night of June 30th, Mrs. A. L. Garner and Miss Cora Wolford. Mrs. Garner died at 10 p. m. She was 77 years 11 months and 26 days. Cause of her death was due to cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Garner was a member of the Baptist church a new church called Scott's Chapel, organized last fall. She was baptized one year ago at the end of a revival meeting held by Rev. Scott, who organized the church which she joined. Mrs. Garner leaves four children, twenty-one grand children and thirteen great grand children. She was not only satisfied to die, but anxious to go. Funeral services conducted by Rev. Ben Vail at the family burying ground. The body was consigned to its last resting place to await the resurrection morn.

Cora F. Wolford, 53 years and 4 days old. A member of the Baptist church, Mt. Vernon, daughter of Dr. W. D. and Sarah E. Wolford. Died June 30th. She had fever several years ago and had not been well since. Her death was no surprise to people.

Judge Hobson spoke to about 30 people at Jamestown, July 1st. He complained that Columbia had been the only town to trouble the waters for him in the present and past.

J. G. Campbell and the other heirs of G. G. Campbell deceased, sold the saw and grist mill at this place, to J. E. Claywell, W. A. Janes, R. H. McKinney and Mose Wooten, last Saturday, for $200. They will move it to the farm of J. J. England near Picnic, where they have a set of sawing to do.

Mr. Denton and family have removed from Breeding to near Picnic, where Mr. Denton will superintend a stave mill.

Joseph Henson and family have removed to the McClister property at this place.

Little Miss Fay Campbell is spending a few weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. E. E. Epperson, of Roy.

Elrod & Co., have moved their stave mill from Breeding to Picnic, and will begin dressing staves at this latter place within the next few days.

J. G. Campbell made a business trip to Amandaville, last Thursday.

Hands are now at work cutting the hickory timber which Allen Wooten recently purchased from J. M. Campbell and others, for $200.

A very terrific storm visited this section last Wednesday afternoon. Hundreds of trees were blown down and many cornfields were ruined outside. An ash tree that stood in the yard of A. D. Stotts was blown across the house, but luckily, no member of the family was hurt.

Crops are looking well in this section, but still we are needing rain very bad. We have had a few showers lately, but not enough to wet the ground.

Prof. Bryce Walker will open school at this place next Monday. This will be Mr. Walker's second term at this place. He taught us an excellent school last year and we predict that he will do even better this time.

Irvine's Store.

The dry weather continues with us and oats and young grass are ruined and meadows are almost a failure. Corn that has been well worked is not hurt much but will soon be damaged without rain.

Messrs. Dry Jeffries, Bill Owens and Herschel Dunbar have picked up all the sheep in this part at a fair price.

Mr. Frank Meece and family have gone to Cincinnati.

Mr. Owen Gaskins has a new girl at his place.

Mrs. Blair, wife of Dr. J. M. Blair, is very sick and not much hope for her recovery, we are sorry to say.

Mr. Jonas Hammond, of Catherine, was here yesterday visiting his son, Dr. Hammond.

M. W. Cooper, of Russell Springs, passed through here this week.

Circuit Court has passed and some of our boys have been hit pretty hard—truly the way of the transgressor is hard.

Mr. D. C. Hopper has gone to Cincinnati and other points on business.

The Health Meeting of the Russell County Medical Society, which was to have been held at Salem church, was called off because three or four objected to the use of the house, will be held at Fairview church, Saturday next. We hope everybody who can will go and hear the interesting talks that will be given.

Sparkville.

Miss Alice England, who has been sick for some time is no better.

The candy breaking at the home of Jeff Ross Saturday night, was largely attended, and all report a joyful time.
